

THE THIRTY-FIFTH PAPYRUS

WHAT PHS MEANS TO US?

To us, PHS is education, people, sports, and events. PHS is to us all the big and little things which make up our lives at PHS.

We cannot explain what PHS means to you. In the 1951 Papyrus, we will try to record many events of the past year.

OUR ALMA MATER

As we begin a new half century, we, as Seniors, are ending one of life's greatest experiences. We are leaving a place, which has grown to be a part of our lives, to take up new things in a new "world".

Just 15 years ago, the present building was erected. New and great things have happened here in the last 50 years; may the next half century bring as much advancement.

EDUCATION

The goal we have been seeking,
EDUCATION, is moving farther away. We have worked hard to catch the important things of life.

We will always remember our years at PHS.

PHS is . . . People

Students and teachers . . . boys and girls . . . all different, yet all the same. The people all work toward keeping things going smoothly. We cheered, laughed together, and complained together, but yet we joined together to form PHS.

APPRECIATION

Here's to Grabill, who has sponsored the crew
And, to all of our pilots,
It's thanks to you.
We are leaving you now,
So, you can take your long-yearned-for rest,
But, before we go,
We say, "Thanks for everything, good, old P.H.S."

SCHOOL BOARD

Seated: Lewis S. Jacob, Supt.; Wyant House, Secretary; Hubert Lee, Trustee.

Standing: L. M. Titus, President; F. G. Hinkle, Treasurer.

The Pendleton-Fall Creek Schools operate as a joint system. The board consists of three representatives of the town of Pendleton and the township trustee.

They form the policies by which the school is regulated.

PROPHECY

December 20, 1970

Dear Diary,

Today has made me think Santa arrived early with a book for me entitled "Memories". Today has given me a warmer feeling and a better understanding of the old saying, "Old pals are the best pals after all."

It seemed so long since I had heard from any '51 classmates that today was quite a shock.

When I awoke this morning, I was a little puzzled to find myself in a strange room; but then I realized that this was December 20, my dance studio in Indiana was closed for the holidays, I had flown to New York the day before, and this was not just a dream; this was the Astor Hotel in New York City.

About nine o'clock, I started downstairs for breakfast. To my amazement, Frances Kamke was running the elevator.

As I stepped into the restaurant, I heard two familiar voices mingled with those of children. There sat Betty (Gahimer) and Russell Scott with their three children—Unus, Due, and Tres—whom they had named in memory of Miss Hollowell.

A tall, distinguished fellow walked into the room; I was told he was Senator Lucas who was in New York investigating the corrupt practices of Mayor Darrell McNutt.

All at once, I heard a band coming down the street, and being one that doesn't like to miss a parade, I rushed out.

It was a circus band led by Major Joe Shelton announcing the arrival of the biggest circus of earth, The Hilligoss and Whiteley Extravaganza. Near the end of the band were two familiar faces which belonged to the drummers, Don Owens and Marvin Kelly.

Following the band were the people of the side shows. The dare-devil was our own Charles Kuhns; Vernon Naanes was the strong man; and Shirley Walter was the trapeze artist.

Next came the animals with Meredith Chamberlain, their trainer, riding upon an elephant. His assistant, Dick Grile, was teasing the elephants with mice.

After the parade passed, a sight-seeing bus pulled up to the curb and the driver, Ronald Davis, who had left home at the early age of 32, invited me to go on the next tour.

We started at 11:00 and were back by 1:00. During our trip we saw the home of the former Vera Stinson, now wife of Cy Rockefeller V, who has just inherited the Rockefeller millions.

We passed a huge building which was covered with shamrocks. I was told this was an auctioneers school run by Nancy Hite and Sandra Miller.—I guess they developed a strong second wind while leading yells at our good old alma mater.

Over the entrance of the next house was the sign "The House of No Men". It was owned and operated for all women who had never found their ideal by Frances Petty. Donna Stohler was standing guard at the gate.

On our return trip, we passed Central Park where we saw Phyllis Fadely standing upon a soapbox giving a lecture—evidently still trying to get a republican administration.

When I returned, I went straight to Leah Lawson's Pink Tiger Room for lunch. My waitress was an old classmate, Barbara Holland. For dessert I ordered a piece of pecan pie baked by the J. Manship Pie Co., Inc.

During the meal, a fashion revue was presented by leading designers of the city. Martha Etchison modeled exclusives from the Virgil Mousa Salon. Frances Dunlavy modeled "Fuscha Dresses for Redheads" created by Norma Rutledge.

As the day's guest, Lois Lukens, now doubling for Lana Turner, modeled a gown of bright red and pink.

My next stop was Macy's Department Store.

There was quite a commotion at one end of the first floor. As I got nearer I saw what resembled a miniature navy; but to my amazement, I found it was Sherry (Orme) and her little sailors. Barbara Mingle, their nurse, was holding the smallest one so he could see over the counters. Marilyn Austin was the one drawing all the attention; she was showing the kiddies how she pitches a no hit, no run, no error game for the Purple Sox Baseball Team of Huntsville.

The next familiar face I saw was that of Joyce Boicourt. She was selling Whatchacall, the successor of Hadacol.

It was nearing closing time for Macy's; so I decided I would take a walk, then possibly go to the show.

Some way or other I got on a side street and soon I saw signs reading "Hoefner's Pool Room—Owned and Operated by the world famous David Hoefner" and "Gay and Irene's Pawn Shop—Engagement Rings Our Specialty—Irene Noble and Gay James, Owners and Proprietors."

Finally, after what seemed like hours, I reached the greasepaint street—Broadway.

I went to the Palace Theater where so many stars had gotten their starts. Playing there was Ed Scudder and his Musicales with Max Mercer as his featured artist. The vocalists with the band were The Three J's—Joan Cordell, Joyce Bradley, and Joan Rencenberger—who had just returned from a European tour. Joan Kinder and Marilyn Burns did a specialty act on stilts.

On my way back to the Astor, the cab passed a huge advertisement which signified that another '51er had made good. It read: "For drinks that never fail, use Ayers' Beer and Ale". Sounds as if Paul might be making use of all the surplus grain at the elevator.

Upon arrival at the hotel, I found people assembling for the annual mayors' convention. Under the Indiana banner sat Don Milner, Ingalls' first mayor and his personal secretary, Sara Main.

On the lobby news stand, the Gazette's headlines blazed—CARROLL RIDGEWAY REPLACES EINSTEIN AS TOPS IN FIELD OF SCIENCE.

A cartoon on page one by Theresa Stohler pictures Mary Stinson in her last filibuster to stop the present bill to do away with the Florida naval training station. In the background was G. M. Grabill who is now serving as Sergeant at Arms in the Senate.

As I take a count, that makes all 51 of our 51'ers plus our past guide. Here's hoping we soon meet again.

Good-night,
E. A. H.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of nineteen hundred fifty-one, of the metropolis of Pendleton, of Fall Creek Township, of Madison County, of the state of Indiana (and Confusion), of the United States of America, being of sound minds and able bodies, with due consideration for these hereafter named, do solemnly make, publish, decree, affirm, proclaim, and announce this to be our last will and testament. That is to say:

Marilyn Austin bequeaths her art ability to Marvin Vestal.
Paul Ayers bequeaths his miserly interests to Jerry Hite.
Joyce Boicourt bequeaths her out-of-town men to the out-of-town women.
Joyce Bradley bequeaths her freckles to Joyce Lee.
Marilyn Burns bequeaths her dark hair to Jewel Davidson.
Meredith Chamberlain bequeaths his spelling ability to Douglass Owens.
Joan Cordell bequeaths her height to Johnny Dine.
Ronald Davis bequeaths his love to Wilma so that she can carry on through next year without him.
Frances Dunlavy bequeaths her home economics abilities to Miss Pitman.
Martha Etchison bequeaths her Toni to Carolyn Seward.
Phyllis Fadely bequeaths her knack for giving "slumberless" slumber parties to Nancy Jackson.
Betty Gahimer bequeaths her curlers to Sue Williams.
Richard Grile bequeaths his extra hair to Mr. Harris.
Ethel Ann Harmeson bequeaths her gracefulness to Phillip Chew.
Delores Hilligoss bequeaths her ability to sit up and sleep in the study hall to Eddie Chamberlain.
Nancy Hite and Sandra Miller (as retiring yell leaders) bequeath their megaphones, uniforms, and spirit to lead the Irish to victory in 1952 to next year's yell leaders.
David Hoefner bequeaths his "Fox"-y ways to Fred Winlan.
Barbara Holland bequeaths her quietness to Patty Hamrick.
Gay James bequeaths her frivolous ways to Barbara Lawyer.
Frances Kamke bequeaths her already-chewed paper wads to Margaret Walter.
Marvin Kelly and Don Owens bequeath their snare drums to Mr. Meek.
Joan Kinder bequeaths her job at Duke's Grill to Jane Shirley.
Charles Kuhns bequeaths his acquaintance with the town marshal to Dick Dyer.
Leah Lawson bequeaths her pleasing personality to Carolyn Jones.
Edgar Lucas bequeaths his decided opinions to Sherrie Alford.
Lois Lukens bequeaths her peaceful personality to Joanna Somers.
Sara Main bequeaths her ability to run in circles and get absolutely nowhere to Ramona Alexander.
Jerry Manship bequeaths his man-of-the-world ways to Russell Jenkins.
Darrel McNutt bequeaths his political views to Mr. Grabill.
Max Mercer bequeaths his building ability to future shop classes.
Don Milner bequeaths his dates with peaches to Keith Gorden.
Barbara Mingle bequeaths her devoted junior (L. W.) to Jackie Mathias.
Virgil Mousa bequeaths his unoled shoes to Charles Reichenbach.
Vernon Naanes bequeaths his muscular build and good looks to Norman McCurdy.
Irene Noble bequeaths her extra rings to Marjorie Parker.
Sherry Orme bequeaths her theme song, "Anchors Away", to anyone who will give her in return the "Wedding March."
Frances Petty bequeaths her ideals of a husband to Joan Brindel.
Joan Rencenberger bequeaths her "flute-tatious" ways to Charles Jones.
Carroll Ridgeway bequeaths his "nit-witty" remarks to K. B. Ramsey.
Norma Rutledge bequeaths her parking place in front of the school to Sandra Goff.
Russell Scott bequeaths his engraved nail file to Eyolene Minnick.
Edgar Scudder bequeaths his idiosyncrasies (?) to Charles Hensley.
Joe Shelton bequeaths his "luve for wimmen" to Steve Thomas.
Mary Stinson bequeaths her "ear'y to bed, early to rise" ways to Janet Owen.
Vera Stinson bequeaths her giggles to Barbara Wooley.
Donna Stohler bequeaths her "pitchin' arm" to Shirley Boicourt.
Theresa Stohler bequeaths her dog collars to Miss Hallowell.
Shirley Walter bequeaths her glasses to anyone who's "hard of seeing."
Larry Whitely bequeaths his love for auto racing to Roger Owens.

The class as a whole wills their winning personalities, charms, outstanding scholastic achievements, beautiful women and handsome men to the class of 1952. (Not that we think they need them or anything.)

As members of the 1951 graduating class, we do declare the above to be our last will and testament.

PHS is Sports

The thing which holds most of the school's attention, and great school spirit, is SPORTS. PHS competes in three sports: baseball, basketball, and track. Sports give the boys a chance to work together, to create school spirit, and learn to be good sports.

First Team Basketball

With the loss of nine lettermen, the 1950-51 basketball team was made up mostly of inexperienced players, who ended the season winning 3 out of 18 scheduled starts.

In the Madison County Sectional the Pendleton Irish were downed by the Anderson Indians in the first game of the sectional, 62-41.

Freshman Team

Row 2—Coach Grabill, Steve Warner, Fred Windlan, Danny Owens, Dick Jones.

The Freshman squad had a very successful season winning 8 out of 11 games.

Junior High Team

Row 1—Donnie Lukens, Jack Guard, Sol Miller, Gene Parker, Jack Ring, Student Manager.

Row 2—Jimmy Taylor, Jerry Mannon, Gerald Campfield, Bill Farr, David Hensley, Ronnie Trout, Coach Gail Grabill.

The Junior High won 9 games and lost 5 this season.

Track Team

The track team has great hopes of winning all their track meets this spring.

The track will consist of only 4 lettermen out of 11 this year.

Baseball Team

Front—Bob Redick.

Kneeling—Ronnie Cassidy, Jack Payne, Eddie Chamberlain, Fred Ball, Walter Newkirk, Evan Keesling, Don Milner.

Standing—Gail Grabill, Asst. Coach; John Hilbert, Jim Breitwieser, Bill Austin, Steve Thomas, Jerry Hite, Phillip Boller, Paul Ayers, Hal Taylor, Don Casterline, Coach.

The Pendleton High School baseball team had some bad breaks this year and were handed 5 setbacks out of 6 starts. With a team composed mostly of Juniors the Irish should have a good year next year.

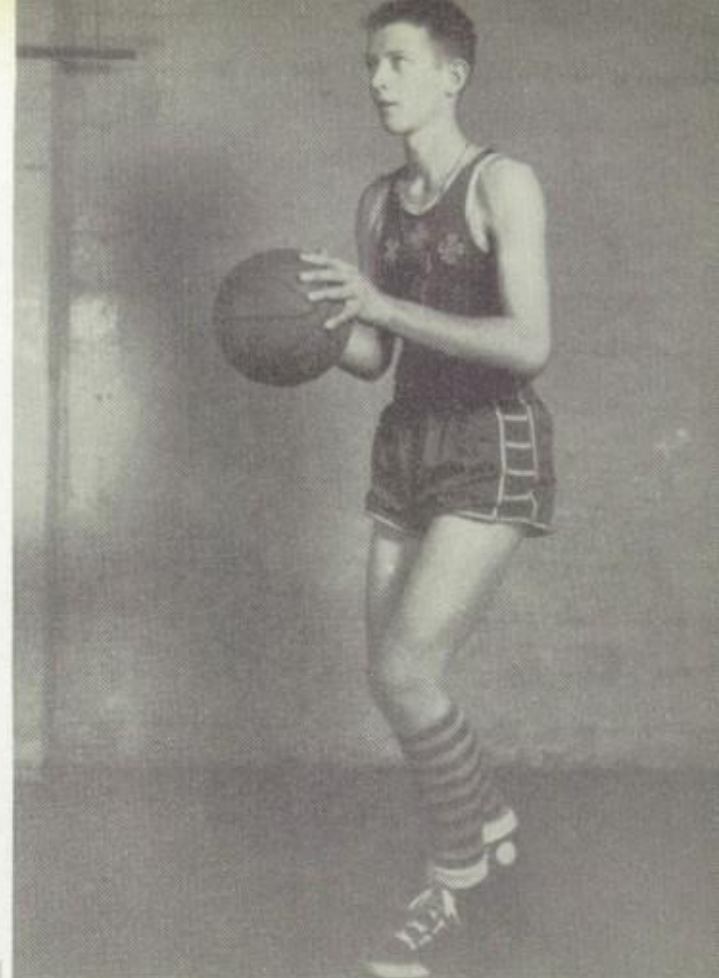

The team will lose only 3 lettermen.
